

Course information

The University of Exeter is offering five pathways to choose between in 2012. Each is suitable for advanced undergraduates and postgraduates. The following pages give more details about each pathway. Please check our website at www.exeter.ac.uk/international/summerschool/ for regular timetable updates.

Global Climate Change: Environment, Technology and Society

Course Code: ISSCC
Credit value: 10 UK credits

Global climate change requires a broad perspective: its mechanisms, the technologies that can be employed to mitigate it and its impacts upon society. You will explore these issues in a multidisciplinary framework with lectures, workshops and practical exercises. Seminars will be led by world-class researchers from experts in the fields of Life Sciences, Engineering, Mathematics, Physical Sciences and Geography. Topics covered over the three weeks include:

- Causes, effects, mitigation and adaptation
- Social, economic and political impacts
- Modelling and prediction
- Water resources
- Renewable energy technologies and policies for a low carbon society.

International Management

Course Code: ISSIM
Credit value: 10 UK credits

With the rise in economic prowess of emerging economies and their multinational enterprises, coupled with the international dominance of some sectors by more established multinationals, we need to reassess the management and strategic challenges facing all firms whose activities span national boundaries.

Through this pathway you will explore the interplay between multinational enterprise, the countries in which they do business, and the competitive environment in which they operate. Drawing upon aspects of corporate strategy, national and international politics, corporate and consumer ethics, and managerial effectiveness, the pathway enables you to gain a systematic understanding of the current tensions and opportunities of managing across borders.

Learning is developed through integrating lectures, class discussion, and case study analysis, allowing you to apply your specific country knowledge to our deliberations, thereby enhancing our collective understanding of international management.

‘The academic programme was awesome’

(William Amante, William and Mary, USA)

Course information

Law

Course Code: ISSLAW
Credit value: 10 UK credits

Key aspects of English, European and International Law will offer you an insight into British and European culture and thought. It will provide an opportunity to reflect on some of the key themes in the current global agenda.

You will have the opportunity to immerse yourself in the European legal systems, i.e. the English common law system as well as the European Treaty based system, with special reference to human rights law and international concepts. You will have the opportunity to contribute and to apply your newly acquired skills.

Shakespeare and His World

Course Code: ISSSHAK
Credit value: 10 UK credits

Shakespeare and His World will connect Shakespeare's texts with their context. Plays will be brought to life in taught sessions benefiting from the expertise of scholars in English, History and Drama.

While in London you will watch a play at the world-famous Globe Theatre. You will then analyse this play in sessions in Exeter. Study of Early modern beliefs will situate Shakespeare's works alongside those of his contemporaries. You will also participate in performance workshops. The module encourages you to engage with a rich and expansive approach to Shakespeare's drama.

Sport, Performance and the Olympic Games

Course Code: ISSOG
Credit value: 10 UK credits

Sport, Performance and the Olympic Games offers an insight into the world's greatest sporting event. You will gain a deeper understanding of the science behind athletic preparation, participation and economic engagement in the Games.

Topics will include endurance performance and physiology, nutrition, overtraining, sport and its relationship to health, sports psychology, biomechanics and the events environment. You will be able to interact with internationally renowned and world-class researchers who have experience of working with elite sports performers over a series of lectures, seminars and practical sessions in a laboratory.

'The lectures were an enriching experience; interacting with people from varied backgrounds and getting to know their views was very enlightening'

(Dayashree Narasimran, IISc, India)

“I loved the social and cultural aspects of the Summer School. I learned the most from meeting people from all over the world. The Exeter staff were great, the activities wonderful and well organised and the experience unforgettable.”

(Emily Starace, Haverford College, USA)

Accommodation and meals

Accommodation, breakfast and an evening meal are all included in the International Summer School fee. Accommodation in Exeter is at Holland Hall, one of the University's newest halls of residence, situated on Streatham Campus. Students will have their own en-suite room with breakfast and dinner provided in the Holland Hall dining room. Each room has a telephone, mini fridge, safe, tea and coffee making facilities, bedding, towels and complementary toiletry pack. There is a porter available from 7am till 11pm who can help with any queries about accommodation once on site.

Campus facilities

Streatham Campus is a 15-minute walk from the facilities offered in Exeter city centre, but the campus itself has a wide range of facilities available to International Summer School students. These include:

- A campus shop selling food and drink, newspapers, magazines and other items
- Cafés
- A bank and ATM
- Prayer rooms
- Laundrette
- Library and internet access
- Sports facilities
- Health facilities

You will receive a tour of the campus on arrival. For a pre-International Summer School virtual tour visit www.exeter.ac.uk/visit/campuses/virtualtours/streathamcampusexeter/

'An experience I will never forget!'

Students paying the discounted early payment fee are required to pay by 20 April. Detailed guidance on payment options will be sent out with your letter of acceptance.

If a student wishes to withdraw from the programme after paying full fees, the University will deduct a penalty charge of £250 to cover administrative and other costs incurred. If a student withdraws within 21 days of the programme start date, there will be no refund of fees.

Entry requirements

How to apply

The International Summer School is aimed at academically able undergraduates and postgraduates from a variety of disciplines, who are highly motivated and can illustrate how they will benefit from participating. The application deadline is 30 March 2012.

We will require students whose first language is not English to have an IELTS level of 6.5 or equivalent (for information on our English language requirements please see www.exeter.ac.uk/undergraduate/applications/entry/language/) You will need to enclose a copy of your certificates with your application or supply proof of an equivalent level of competence. If you have not yet obtained a certificate, please enclose details of when you are going to take the test and when you expect to get the result.

Details of IELTS testing centres worldwide can be found at www.ielts.org/candidates.aspx

Applicants who do not satisfy Exeter's academic, English language or other entry requirements may be given a conditional offer with details of how these requirements can be met. Students at our partner universities will be able to take the English Language Proficiency Assessment test.
